Course Aim 'Hearth & Home' looks at a range of factors that we are all part of, factors that have influenced how and where we live, what we live in and how the built environment changes over time, employing urban, suburban and rural examples.
Course Description 'Hearth & Home' will look at those factors of our built environment that most affect us, our homes and where we live. Urban areas and rural locations have markedly different housing styles and communities, we will look at some of the features of these and how our homes have changed over time, both inside and out. What is so special about a 'West End' in a city? Why modern in the city and traditional in rural housing? What does 'Scattered Squalor' have to do with suburban idylls? Urban history and suburban growth will be studied alongside rural locations and the perspectives over time of a range of commentators will be considered.
Do I need any particular skills or experience?
What will I achieve? By the end of the course I will be able to: 1. Be aware of the social landscape of a given area 2. Identify a range of housing types and their social locations 3. Identify the stages of the historic growth of housing

4. Observe an area of choice and evaluate its housing character
5. Be aware of the origin of building materials in UK house construction
